Huguenot persuasion. Charles de Soubise was an officer in the service of the young King of Navarre, afterwards the celebrated Henry IV.: he was of a noble family, elegant person, and excellent disposition; and had been, from his infancy, distinguished by the Queen of Navarre, who had caused her son to bestow upon him every mark of favour in his power. He had married very early in life a young English girl, who, with an aged uncle, had taken refuge on the Continent during the persecution of the Protestants under Queen Mary of bloody memory :her father having suffered at the stake, and her mother died heart-broken for his cruel fate, poor little Maria Shirley was happy in having a relative, who, in providing for his own safety, did not forget the infant of his martyred nephew, although her age and her sex rendered her an inconvenient companion in his flight. Maria could not remember her parents.
